We've got no money, so we've got to think.

— New Zealand physicist, Ernest Rutherford

If risk assessment does not take into account what is and is not practically feasible, it is an academic exercise distant from those on whom it will ultimately have an impact. This is what happened in the UK.

— UK COVID-19 Inquiry Module 1 (2024) (p. 74)

One of the key findings of that 2013 [Good to Great] report was that the best performing agencies are clear about their role and purpose, enjoy strong internal leadership, and as a result can enlist the active support of all those outside the agency who are necessary to that agency, delivering the most it can for New Zealanders.

— Iain Rennie, State Services Commissioner
(now Secretary and Chief Executive to the Treasury), cited in Getting to Great (2014) (p. i)

One day some historian will look back and say how remarkable it was that these strange folk who called themselves 'Americans' [read New Zealanders] ever governed themselves at all, given how they went about it. Inside the government were all these little boxes. The boxes had been created to address specific problems as they arose. 'How to ensure our food is safe to eat,' for instance, or 'how to avoid a run on the banks,' or 'how to prevent another terrorist attack.' Each box was given to people with knowledge and talent and expertise useful to its assigned problem and, over time, those people created a culture around the problem, distinct from the cultures in the other little boxes. Each box became its own small, frozen world, with little ability to adapt and little interest in whatever might be going on inside the other boxes. People who complained about 'government waste' usually fixated on the other ways taxpayer money got spent. But here was the real waste. One box might contain the solution to a problem in another box, or the person who might find that solution, and the second box would never know about it.

— Michael Lewis, The Premonition (2021) (pp. 78–79)

Not just an extraordinary adviser, but an extraordinary do-er. Endlessly intellectually curious. Always looking for the answer. Never stopping until he found the solution to the knottiest of problems. Whatever the issue was, Jeremy [Heywood] would sort it ... the greatest public servant of our time.

— Theresa May, cited in What does Jeremy think? (2021) (p. 521)

2023 GDS Index: By the numbers

· GDSs – government department strategies · 636 GDSs published since July 1994 · 230 GDSs in operation

DATA SET

230 GDSs were in operation as at 31 December 2023.
In 2021, 221 GDSs were in operation.

116 of operational GDSs had strategy maps.
In 2021, 77 GDSs had strategy maps.

636 GDSs have been published since 1994.

25 years

is the age of the oldest GDS: Karst Management Guidelines – Policies and Actions (May, 1999). It was retrospectively added to the 2023 index.

In 2021, the oldest GDS was MOH's Reduced Waiting Times for Public Hospital Elective Services (2000).

CONTENT

19% of operational GDSs (44 out of 230) were held by one department – MOH.

In 2021, 22% of operational GDSs (48 out of 221) were held by one department – MOH.

348 pages was the longest: Te Hau Mārohi ki Anamata – Towards a Productive, Sustainable and Inclusive Economy: Aotearoa New Zealand's first emissions reduction plan (May 2022).

In 2021, the longest GDS was 193 pages: MoH's Influenza Pandemic Plan: A framework for action.

ACCOUNTABILITY

of operational GDSs (32 out of 230) have a legal relationship of some form in New Zealand law by either being required (must) to be published or can be published (may).

37 GDSs are jointly held.

The departments that collaborated most were DOC and MPI (both 5).

In 2021, 33 GDSs were jointly held. The departments that collaborated most were DOC, MBIE and MPI.

5 departments did not hold any operational GDSs.

They are Crown Law Office, Government Communications Security Bureau, Ministry for Culture and Heritage, New Zealand Security Intelligence Service and the Serious Fraud Office. In 2021, 6 departments did not hold any operational GDSs.

39% of operational GDSs (89 out of 230) were signed by the Crown only.

In 2021, 44% of operational GDSs (98 out of 221) were signed by the Crown only.

37% of operational GDSs (84 out of 230) were not signed at all.

In 2021, 32% of operational GDSs (70 out of 221) were not signed at all.

GDS BY CLIMATE

56% (129 out of 230) of all operational GDSs did not make a mention of climate change.

In 2021, 67% of operational GDSs (148 out of 221) did not make a mention of climate change.

26% (59 out of 230) show some form of climate intelligence (i.e. a basic or detailed response to climate change impacts):

Preface

This is our fourth GDS Index. The Institute has continually raised concerns over the government's inability to identify, execute and review these key strategic documents. They are expensive instruments to create and costly to replace – they deserve our attention.

The Public Service Act 2020 promises New Zealanders that chief executives will pursue and protect the long-term public interest, facilitate active citizenship, collaborate with other public service agencies, undertake long-term thinking, deliver goods and services efficiently and economically, and consider how effectively those goods or services contribute to the intended outcomes (see, for example, ss 11, 12 and 52 of the Act).

From our experience, most chief executives of government departments are failing to use strategy to deliver long-term public benefits. At the same time, Parliament is failing to seek regular reviews from chief executives on the extent to which their strategies are working, requiring a refresh or needing to be replaced.

In times of significant change, strategies need to be frequently refreshed to ensure costs, risks and benefits align with the needs of the wider public.

One of the key lessons from the UK COVID-19 Inquiry is the importance of ensuring risk assessment is not simply an academic exercise. The report states: 'If risk assessment does not take into account what is and is not practically feasible, it is an academic exercise distant from those on whom it will ultimately have an impact.'

Strategy is hard work; it requires a critical examination of capabilities, resources and capacity and a deep understanding of the future costs, risks and benefits. The challenge is then to match ambition with reality. Government department strategies (GDSs) are documents prepared and published by government departments to link ambition to execution. Strategies explain how we execute purpose (as shown in the strategy pyramid on p. 11). They are designed to enable citizens to read, reflect, support and, ideally, engage in public policy issues, ultimately working together to improve outcomes for all.

At a time when New Zealand's infrastructure is failing, our healthcare system is in crisis and climate change is forcing the relocation of communities, our current approach of ignoring strategy (and these strategic documents) is illogical, costly and a major missed opportunity by leaders who wish to bring about durable, cost-effective change.

Four major recommendations from previous GDS indexes have been updated below. If you are interested in learning more, please read Working Paper 2024/08: Methodology for the 2023 Government Department Strategies Index, which is on our web page, titled GDS Index. While the methodology explains how and why this research was undertaken, this Handbook, in contrast, explains what we found.

1. The House of Representatives should find a better way to communicate and report on government priorities, goals and targets.

The House should agree to establish a consistent place where citizens can find a list of government priorities. Although priorities, goals and targets are often mentioned in the Budget speech or in the press, the reality is that they frequently change and are not always easy to find, review or compare across governments.

2. The Ministry for Regulation Te Manatū Waeture and/or Te Kawa Mataaho Public Service Commission should maintain a central register of GDSs, a consultation timeline for members of the public, and guidance on how government departments can improve GDS content.

As GDSs are designed to address significant issues of their day, we believe there is considerable historical value in learning lessons from past strategies. However, this information is often lost in the current system because non-operational GDSs are removed from websites and there is no central register.

3. The Minister of Climate Change should require all 230 GDSs to be reassessed to take into account the impacts of climate change before 1 July 2025.

In this index, we have included a special focus on climate change. See Working Paper 2024/09: Climate change mentions in government department strategies in operation as at 31 December 2023.

4. Government departments should identify GDSs in operation in their annual report.

Thank you to government department officials for their assistance, patience, and interest in our work. We hope that we have honoured the hard work of those writing strategy documents in government and that this Handbook helps to continue the conversation around GDSs and their capacity to drive change.

Wendy McGuinness
Chief Executive

Welcome to the Government Department Strategies Handbook – He Puna Rautaki

Government department strategies (GDSs) provide citizens with windows into the workings of government and help build trust through transparency, accountability and public engagement.

The purpose of the Handbook is to improve stewardship of strategy documents by enabling:

- Ministers to review GDSs under their control with a view to improving outcomes;
- Members of Parliament to learn more about the work currently undertaken by departments, with a view to improving discussions on public policy in Parliament;
- chief executives to use GDSs to drive their work programmes and those of other departments, with a view to reducing costs and improving alignment and collaboration; and
- other stakeholders to learn more about what is driving the thinking and work of departments, with a view to understanding trade-offs, improving feedback from consultation processes and gathering wider public support for specific strategies.

Working Paper 2024/08: Methodology for the 2023 Government Department Strategies Index sets out why we have undertaken research into New Zealand GDSs. Figure 1 provides an overview of the method.

What is strategy?

Strategy concerns choice. What we choose to focus on as individuals, communities and a nation indicates the direction in which we are likely to travel.

Depending on the intensity of our focus and the quality of our strategic thinking, we might drift slowly on a linear trajectory, only changing direction in response to a disruptive event, or we might move rapidly and responsively, working to be proactive, agile and open to emerging opportunities and challenges.

Alignment is key, both within each strategy (see Figure 2 overleaf) and in the wider strategy ecosystem that operates within government. Developing an effective strategy ecosystem requires a deep understanding of where we have been (hindsight), where we are now (insight) and where we want to go (foresight). ‘Foresight’ is commonly used to refer to anticipatory governance – a topic the Institute intends to explore in collaboration with others in 2025.

Our progress as a nation is dependent on how we use institutions, instruments and information – what the Institute calls the three I’s. GDSs have been and always will be a tool of government. However, they remain underutilised and poorly understood. In our view, they provide an opportunity to bring about change in a cost-effective and durable way.

Note to Table 1

This includes GDSs that have been jointly held. Hence, a strategy jointly held by four departments is included four times in the GDS Index. See Appendix 7 for a list of all jointly held GDSs.

Karst Management Guidelines – Policies and Actions

Purpose

'[T]o help DOC staff to more effectively manage karst and karst-like areas ... Karst usually occurs in limestone and marble, which has been sculpted by natural waters.' (p. 3)

Strategy (to achieve the purpose):

The approach is to follow a series of actions grouped into the following categories:

- Overall actions to conserve the karst natural heritage of New Zealand.
- Planning the management of protected natural karst areas administered by DOC.
- Protection of karst areas from visitor impacts.
- Concessions in karst areas.
- Non-routine activities in karst areas.
- Protection of karst on private land and other public land.
- Staff training and capacity. (p. 13)

Purpose
'[M]aintaining or improving the condition of these islands by continuing with the programme of eradication of all introduced mammal species.' (p. 5)

Strategy (to achieve the purpose):

The approach is to set guidelines for researchers desiring access to Southland Conservancy and to provide a tool for managers to decide on the appropriate research needed for each of the four research themes: natural ecosystems; effects of introduced biota; human impacts and social interaction; and abiotic sciences (sciences such as geology which study non-living systems). Wilding Conifer Management Strategy (also known as Wilding Pines Management Strategy)

Purpose
'Prevent the spread of wilding conifers, and contain or eradicate established areas of wilding conifers by 2030'. (p. 8)

Strategy (to achieve the purpose):

The approach is to: clarify roles and responsibilities; gain funding for collective action and timely intervention; support fair allocation of costs associated with wilding conifer control; prioritise wilding conifer management; develop consistent monitoring and mapping; promote consistency in policy across organisations; co-ordinate operations; increase understanding of wilding conifer impacts; support ongoing research to reduce the cost of control and risk of establishment; and promote information sharing of best practice and technological gains in control methods. New Zealand sea lion/rāpoka Threat Management Plan

Purpose:

'[P]romote the recovery and ensure the long-term viability of New Zealand sea lions, with the ultimate goal of achieving "Not Threatened" status.' (p. 4)

Strategy (to achieve the purpose):

The approach is to focus on four workstreams: engagement (including the establishment of a New Zealand sea lion/rāpoka forum, advisory group, and community liaison role within DOC), direct mitigation, targeted research (such as research to better understand adult female nutritional stress and diet), and evaluation (such as conducting annual pup counts and tag re-sighting on the Auckland Islands). National RMA and EEZA [Exclusive Economic Zone and Continental Shelf (Environmental Effects) Act 2012] Advocacy Strategy

Purpose

‘To provide high-level direction for DOC staff when deciding whether to initiate engagement in statutory advocacy processes under the RMA and EEZA.’ (p. 2)

Strategy (to achieve the purpose):

The approach is to initiate engagement in:

- Planning processes under RMA or EEZA to protect the Priority Conservation Values
- Consent applications under RMA and EEZA where they may result in adverse effects on the Priority Conservation Values
- Advocacy in RMA and EEZA processes where proposed provisions in Planning Documents or proposed activities:
 - have the potential to create inefficiencies or impose unnecessary obligations on DOC
 - are inconsistent with a DOC Management Planning Document. (p. 4)

Te Kaweka Takohaka mō te Hoiho

Purpose:

'Hoiho should be able to go to sea to feed on abundant and good quality kai, and return safely to the whenua to breed, feed their young and socialise without facing human-induced threats.' (p. 12)

Strategy (to achieve the purpose):

The approach is to focus on sustaining and restoring the health of the hoiho population by focusing on 20 strategic priorities, such as ensuring that accurate, usable and accessible data contributes to hoiho conservation. These strategic priorities are guided by six principles that set the foundation for how decisions will be made. (pp. 14, 19-27)

Critical Ecosystem Pressures on Freshwater Environments (CRESP) 4-year research strategy

Purpose:

'[T]o provide knowledge that will strengthen DOC's advocacy and management of indigenous freshwater ecosystems and species.' (p. 3)

Strategy (to achieve the purpose):

The approach is to conduct research in collaboration with a range of external groups on four abiotic pressures and their effects: water levels/flows; habitat loss; sediment and nutrients; and fish passage (instream structures that alter freshwater habitats or block fish movements upstream and/or downstream). (p. 2)

Te Aorerekura – The Enduring Spirit of Affection: The national strategy to eliminate family violence and sexual violence

Purpose:

'[S]et out a framework to eliminate family violence and sexual violence, to drive government action in a unified way and harness public support and community action. It will also increase political and public sector accountability by setting out what the government is committing to do and how it will measure and report on progress.' (p. 6)

Strategy (to achieve the purpose):

The approach is to implement several actions that fall under six 'shifts':

1. Towards strength-based wellbeing.
2. Towards mobilising communities.
3. Towards skilled, culturally competent and sustainable workforces.
4. Towards investment in primary prevention.
5. Towards safe, accessible and integrated responses.
6. Towards increased capacity for healing. (p. 7)

Disability Action Plan

Purpose:

- Provide:
- ‘Equitable access and choices.
 - Mana enhancing practice for all tāngata whaikaha Māori/ disabled people.
 - Tāngata whaikaha Māori/disabled people led participation.’ (p. 15)

Strategy (to achieve the purpose):

The approach is to define 'key strategic focus areas and the broad ways in which we intend to act on these. These focus areas are guided by what we heard from tāngata whaikaha Māori/ disabled people and their whānau, previous action plans and the EGL framework adapted for an Ara Poutama Aotearoa context.'

Focus areas: national leadership; using evidence to make a difference; responding to disability support needs; developing the workforce; research and evaluation; and working with tāngata whaikaha and their whānau. (pp. 15, 18)

Strategy for a Digital Public Service

Purpose:

'The public service is modern at its heart and all New Zealanders are thriving in a digital age.' (p. 2)

Strategy (to achieve the purpose):

The approach is to focus on eight behaviours that will help transform the public service to be fit for the digital age. These behaviours are:

- Acting as a unified public service
- Making people-centred decisions
- Collaborating and co-create
- Digital transformation in accordance with tikanga Māori
- Acting quickly and innovatively
- Prioritising value for money
- Fostering a learning environment, and
- Striving for an open, accountable public service. (pp. 18–19)

Approach to Regulation of Anti-Money Laundering and Countering Financing of Terrorism

Purpose:
'[B]uild the capability ... of reporting entities in detecting and preventing their businesses from being used by criminals and terrorists to hide or move money through the financial system, and support New Zealand and international efforts to make it difficult for criminals and terrorists to exploit financial systems.' (p. 2)

Strategy (to achieve the purpose):

The approach is to:

- '[D]evelop a comprehensive understanding of ML/TF risks and typologies and share this across the sectors we supervise...
- [B]uild a culture of effective AML/CFT compliance across the reporting entities we supervise...
- [I]dentify reporting entities who are not adequately managing and mitigating their ML/TF risks and work with them...
- [T]ake action where there is serious or systemic non-compliance by reporting entities'. (p. 6)

Te Rautaki Matihiko mō Aotearoa – The Digital Strategy for Aotearoa

Purpose:

'Aotearoa New Zealand's people, communities, economy, and environment are flourishing and prosperous in the digital era.' (p. 3)

Strategy (to achieve the purpose):

The approach is to implement a series of initiatives under three areas:

- Mahi Tika — Trust (e.g. putting guardrails in place)
- Mahi Tahī — Inclusion (e.g. ensuring digital content and services meet everyone's needs)
- Mahi Ake — Growth (e.g. supporting data-driven innovation). (pp. 4, 16, 23, 31 of Te Rautaki Matihiko mō Aotearoa – The Digital Strategy for Aotearoa)

The Action plan consists of 11 initiatives that will advance the DSA in the short-term. (p. 3 of Action Plan for the Digital Strategy for Aotearoa)

Strategy 2022–2025: A pathway to an Aotearoa where ethnic communities feel at home

Purpose:
'[S]ets out the actions the Ministry will prioritise to achieve better outcomes for ethnic communities ... an Aotearoa New Zealand where everyone feels welcome, safe, included, and valued.' (p. 13)

Strategy (to achieve the purpose):

The approach is to continue on with a series of actions that are already underway, and implement a number of new actions. These focus on improving representation of ethnic communities on public sector boards and committees; building communication channels between ethnic communities and government; improving accessibility to funding, training and government services; and addressing disparities in pay and education and job opportunities. Our Strategy: Improving oranga for current and future generations

Purpose: (p. 2)

- ‘The intergenerational oranga of the people of Aotearoa New Zealand is supported by [IRD’s] active stewardship
- Oranga increases when Inland Revenue works with other organisations
- People receive their entitlements, enabling oranga
- Revenue is available to fund government programmes/services’

Strategy (to achieve the purpose):

The approach is to: keep customers at the centre; support people to create success; become Te Tiriti-based; maximise the benefits of being digitally enabled for customers and partners; add greater value through collaboration with partners to deliver services; actively take care of what they have now and ensure it is fit for the future; have an integrated planning and funding model; get the most value from data, analytics, information and knowledge; and have a fit-for-purpose change-delivery model. New Zealand Geographic Board Strategy

Purpose:
 ‘Our purpose is to secure and celebrate New Zealand’s unique identity through place names’. (p. 1)

Strategy (to achieve the purpose):

The approach is to focus on four goals:

- Naming places: officially name features and places so people can effectively communicate information about location and preserve New Zealand’s heritage and culture.
- Outreach: make information, including stories about place names, readily available.
- Using official names: have organisations use official names so people use them in everyday life.
- Improving capability and processes: continuously improve capability and processes to achieve our goals and objectives. (p. 1)

Fale mo Aiga – Pacific Housing Strategy 2030

Purpose

'Pacific peoples own and live in affordable, quality, fit-for-purpose, healthy homes that enhance their wellbeing.' (p. 2 of Fale mo Aiga – Pacific Housing Strategy 2030)

Strategy (to achieve the purpose):

The approach is to focus on four key priorities:

- 'Demand – [b]uild intergenerational Pacific wealth through home ownership.
- Supply – [b]uild affordable, quality, healthy, fit-for-purpose homes for Pacific peoples.
- Pacific housing sector – [d]evelop and grow the Pacific housing sector.
- Housing system – [i]nfluence and strengthen the housing system to improve housing outcomes for Pacific peoples.' (p. 2 of Fale mo Aiga – Pacific Housing Strategy 2030)

Harvest Strategy Standard for New Zealand Fisheries

Purpose:
 '[P]rovide a consistent and transparent framework for setting fishery and stock targets and limits and associated fisheries management measures, so that there is a high probability of achieving targets, a very low probability of breaching limits, and acceptable probabilities of rebuilding stocks that nevertheless become depleted, in a timely manner.' (p. 7)

Strategy (to achieve the purpose):

The approach is to focus on three core elements: a specified target about which a fishery or stock should fluctuate; a soft limit that triggers a requirement for a formal, time-constrained rebuilding plan; and a hard limit below which fisheries should be considered for closure. (pp. 7-9)

National Plan of Action for the Conservation and Management of Sharks

Purpose:
‘To maintain the biodiversity and the long-term viability of all New Zealand shark populations by recognising their role in marine ecosystems, ensuring that any utilisation of sharks is sustainable, and [that New Zealand is recognised for] efforts in shark conservation and management.’ (p. 2)

Strategy (to achieve the purpose):

The approach is to focus on six goals and put in place a number of five-year objectives for each goal. The goals are: biodiversity and long-term viability of shark populations; utilisation, waste reduction and the elimination of shark finning; domestic engagement and partnerships; non-fishing threats; international engagement; and research and information. Wilding Conifer Management Strategy (also known as Wilding Pines Management Strategy)

Purpose

‘Prevent the spread of wilding conifers, and contain or eradicate established areas of wilding conifers by 2030’. (p. 8)

Strategy (to achieve the purpose):

The approach is to: clarify roles and responsibilities; gain funding for collective action and timely intervention; support fair allocation of costs associated with wilding conifer control; prioritise wilding conifer management; develop consistent monitoring and mapping; promote consistency in policy across organisations; co-ordinate operations; increase understanding of wilding conifer impacts; support ongoing research to reduce the cost of control and risk of establishment; and promote information sharing of best practice and technological gains in control methods. New Zealand sea lion/rāpoka Threat Management Plan

Purpose:

'[P]romote the recovery and ensure the long-term viability of New Zealand sea lions, with the ultimate goal of achieving "Not Threatened" status.' (p. 4)

Strategy (to achieve the purpose):

The approach is to focus on four workstreams: engagement (including the establishment of a New Zealand sea lion/rāpoka forum, advisory group, and community liaison role within DOC), direct mitigation, targeted research (such as research to better understand adult female nutritional stress and diet), and evaluation (such as conducting annual pup counts and tag re-sighting on the Auckland Islands). (pp. 15-16)

Cadmium and New Zealand Agriculture and Horticulture

Purpose:

'To ensure that cadmium in rural production poses minimal risks to health, trade, land use flexibility and the environment over the next 100 years.' (p. 2)

Strategy (to achieve the purpose):

The approach is to manage the risk of cadmium (a naturally occurring heavy metal in soils, of which phosphate fertiliser is the primary source) through research, monitoring, education and supporting practices which enable food standards to be met, and cadmium accumulation in soils to be controlled. Fit for a Better World: Accelerating our economic potential

Purpose:
‘We aspire to an enriched future by providing the world’s most discerning consumers with outstanding, ethically-produced food, natural fibres, drinks, co- and bioproducts, all sourced from our land and oceans.’ (p. 3)

Strategy (to achieve the purpose):

The approach is achieve three ambitious targets across the three pillars of New Zealand’s economic recovery. These targets are:

- Productivity: Add $44 billion in export earnings over the next decade via a focus on creating value and building off the strong position of our core sectors.
- Sustainability: Reduce biogenic methane to 24–47% below 2017 levels by 2050, including to 10% below 2017 levels by 2030, and restore New Zealand’s freshwater to a healthy state within a generation.
- Inclusiveness: Employ 10% more New Zealanders in the primary sector by 2030 and 10,000 more New Zealanders in the primary sector workforce over the next four years. (p. 8)

Purpose:
'Hoiho should be able to go to sea to feed on abundant and good quality kai, and return safely to the whenua to breed, feed their young and socialise without facing human-induced threats.' (p. 12)

Strategy (to achieve the purpose):

The approach is to focus on sustaining and restoring the health of the hoiho population by focusing on 20 strategic priorities, such as ensuring that accurate, usable and accessible data contributes to hoiho conservation. These strategic priorities are guided by six principles that set the foundation for how decisions will be made. (pp. 14, 19–27)

Wallaby Strategy: Achieving a wallaby-free Aotearoa

Purpose:

‘By 2025 wallabies are contained within designated containment areas’ as ‘the first step towards the vision of eradication’. (p. 4)

Strategy (to achieve the purpose):

The approach has seven objectives, including that: wallaby management is effective, cost efficient and co-ordinated; the ecology and impact of wallabies are understood, and effective surveillance, control and decision support tools are developed, accessible and used; the rangatiratanga of whānau, hapū and iwi is actively enabled and supported; and New Zealanders are aware of the impacts of wallabies, support the management of wallabies, report sightings accurately and do not transport and release wallabies. Te hau mārohi ki anamata – Transitioning to a low-emissions and climate-resilient future

Purpose:
'[T]o urgently reduce greenhouse gas emissions and increase carbon sinks, so that we meet our domestic emissions reduction targets.' (p. 9)

Strategy (to achieve the purpose):

The approach is to focus on aligning system settings; reducing emissions in the key sectors of the economy; and ensuring a fair distribution of costs and benefits. This strategy forms Part I of the first emissions reduction plan and sets the context for the first three emissions budgets (published in May 2022). These will provide detailed information about the steps Aotearoa will take to reduce emissions and increase carbon sinks in the first budget period (2022–25). (pp. 15, 62)

Purpose:

'[P]rotect human health and the environment from [persistent organic pollutants (POPs)], by implementing the Convention.' (p. 13)

Strategy (to achieve the purpose):

The approach is to:

- Comply with the convention and communicate the actions taken to implement it
- Assess current progress in reducing the use of POPs in New Zealand
- Identify actions needed to eliminate and reduce the use of 'new POPs'
- Update and continue to implement New Zealand's action plan for dioxins and other unintentionally produced POPs
- Dispose of POP stockpiles and manage sites contaminated by POPs. (p. 13)

Te Rautaki Para – Waste Strategy

Purpose:
 '[O]ur government sets out a long-term path to achieve the vision of Aotearoa New Zealand in 2050 as a low-emissions, low-waste society, embedding circular economy principles.' (p. 6)

Strategy (to achieve the purpose):

The approach covers three areas:

- 'Waste generation: reduce the amount of material entering the waste management system, by 10 per cent per person.
- Waste disposal: reduce the amount of material that needs final disposal, by 30 per cent per person.
- Waste emissions: reduce the biogenic methane emissions from waste, by at least 30 per cent.' (p. 25)

Nationally Determined Contribution Strategy

Purpose:
 '[Reduce] net emissions to 50 percent below 2005 gross emissions levels by 2030'. (p. 28)

Strategy (to achieve the purpose):

The approach is to:

- Ensure the ERP2 process can deliver increased domestic action and reduce emissions
- Deliver additional mitigation through international cooperation through a portfolio of options
- Reinforce existing climate change policy oversight functions and establish some new special-purpose functions across domestic action and international cooperation to ensure delivery, monitor progress and keep New Zealand on track
- Develop funding options for the cost of meeting the NDC. (p. 32)

Refugee Settlement: Resettlement Strategy

Purpose:

'Refugees are participating fully and integrated socially and economically as soon as possible so that they are living independently, undertaking the same responsibilities and exercising the same rights as other New Zealanders and have a strong sense of belonging to their own community and to New Zealand.' (p. 3)

Strategy (to achieve the purpose):

The approach is in stages; only the first year is outlined. This includes putting in place measures that show whether Immigration New Zealand is making progress towards five goals. These include working to ensure the right support is available for refugees before they arrive in New Zealand and placing a strong focus on employment once they arrive. (p. 9)

Nation of Curious Minds – He Whenua Hihiri i te Mahara: A national strategic plan for science in society

Purpose:
‘Encourage and enable better engagement with science and technology in all sectors of New Zealand.’ (p. 9)

Strategy (to achieve the purpose):

The approach is to focus on three strategic action areas: enhancing the role of education (e.g. stronger links between STEM educators, learners, scientists and technologists); public engaging with science (e.g. encouraging high-quality science); and the science sector engaging with the public (e.g. ensuring scientists know how to make research accessible). National Statement of Science Investment

Purpose:
'A highly dynamic science system that enriches New Zealand, making a more visible, measurable contribution to our productivity and wellbeing through excellent science.' (p. 7)

Strategy (to achieve the purpose):

The approach is broad (e.g. helping ensure the national science challenges deliver), but contains some detail (e.g. making the contestable fund a single, more agile and responsive fund). Note: The NSSI will be refreshed every three years to reflect progress and the funding needs of the science system. (pp. 58, 64)

Health Research Strategy

Purpose:
‘By 2027, New Zealand will have a world-leading health research and innovation system that, through excellent research, improves the health and wellbeing of all New Zealanders.’ (p. 6)

Strategy (to achieve the purpose):

The approach is to focus on four strategic priorities (and implement specific actions): invest in excellent health research; create a vibrant research environment in the health sector; build and strengthen pathways for translating research findings into policy and practice; and advance innovative ideas and commercial opportunities. Health and Safety at Work Strategy

Purpose:
‘Work is healthy and safe for everyone in New Zealand ... Everyone plays their part to manage health and safety risks effectively and proportionately.’ (p. 3)

Strategy (to achieve the purpose):

The approach concentrates on two goals. The first goal is to focus on what will make the biggest impact. It includes three priorities: better management of work-related health risks; businesses with greater need (including sectors with the highest harm and small business); and workers with greater need (such as Māori, Pasifika, migrant and seasonal, younger and older workers). The second goal is to build everyone’s capability, with a focus on four priorities: leadership; worker engagement, representation and participation; health and safety practitioners; and data and insights. (p. 2)

Conformance System Strategy

Purpose:

'[S]ustain a trusted, reliable and high quality conformance system ... to protect communities and support commerce.'
[A conformance system is] 'made up of specialist organisations that check if goods and service providers conform to standards or regulations.'
 (pp. 3, 5)

Strategy (to achieve the purpose):

The approach is to focus on four areas: organisational performance and governance, regulatory quality and practice, partnerships for skills and value, and international connections.

Technical Barriers to Trade (TBT) Strategy

Purpose:

'Reduce TBTs affecting New Zealand firms and increase international regulatory cooperation by maximising the outcomes of our TBT work programme.' (p. 1)

Strategy (to achieve the purpose):

The approach is to provide a more effective TBT work programme across five focus areas:

- Negotiating free trade agreements
- Implementing free trade agreements
- Participating in the World Trade Organisation TBT Committee
- Operating the World Trade Organisation TBT Enquiry Point
- Evaluating the work programme.

Each focus area lists a number of related action points. (pp. 10-19)

Employment Strategy

Purpose:
 '[T]o improve the employment outcomes of all New Zealanders.' (p. 1)

Strategy (to achieve the purpose):

The approach is to focus on four objectives:

- Building a skilled workforce so workers have the skills they need to achieve their career aspirations
- Supporting thriving industries and regions so businesses can create more jobs and people can work where they choose
- Supporting workplaces to respond to the changing world of work and to provide healthy, safe and productive jobs
- Promoting inclusive work so everyone has opportunities to participate in meaningful and fulfilling work. (p. 2)

Regulatory Systems Stewardship Strategy

Purpose:
 '[C]reate and maintain regulatory systems that prevent harm and enable Aotearoa New Zealand's people, businesses, and future generations to thrive.' (p. 14)

Strategy (to achieve the purpose):

The approach is to focus on six complementary, inter-related strategic responses, each with a number of workstreams. These strategic responses are:

- Embedding formal system leadership
- Lifting core people capability
- Enhancing the design of regulatory policy and implementation
- Embedding proactive system management
- Building knowledge to empower regulatory stewardship
- Engaging with cross-system issues and opportunities. (pp. 16-17)

Aerospace Strategy – Te Rautaki Ātea-ā-rangi o Aotearoa

Purpose:
 '[E]stablish a distinct New Zealand approach to developing the aerospace sector, by building on our national strengths, while managing national security risks.' (p. 3)

Strategy (to achieve the purpose):

The approach is to implement a three-phase approach:

- Take off – setting up governance arrangements and workstreams, assessing current conditions, conducting feasibility assessments, developing project proposals and planning future work
- Ascend – establishing collaborative research programmes, developing proof-of-concept technologies in testing environments and investing in critical infrastructure
- Expand – cementing capabilities and successes by scaling up tested prototypes and securing New Zealand’s niche in aerospace. (p. 25)

Charging Our Future: National electric vehicle charging strategy

Purpose:
‘Aotearoa New Zealand’s EV charging infrastructure supports an equitable transition to a low-emissions transport system in which accessible, affordable, secure, and reliable charging infrastructure is available to everyone who needs it.’ (p. 2)

Strategy (to achieve the purpose):

The approach is to focus on five long-term outcomes:

- Integrating EV charging infrastructure, ensuring the system is affordable, reliable, secure and safe
- Making EV charging infrastructure accessible, affordable, secure, and reliable for EV users from diverse backgrounds
- Developing integrated and streamlined cross-sectoral planning and standards to underpin New Zealand’s EV charging system
- Ensuring the EV charging market functions effectively, can adapt and evolve over time, and is attractive to users, operators and investors
- Contributing to the transition to, and use of, low-emissions transport modes across the wider transport system. (p. 3)

Nation of Curious Minds – He Whenua Hihiri i te Mahara: A national strategic plan for science in society

Purpose:
‘Encourage and enable better engagement with science and technology in all sectors of New Zealand.’ (p. 9)

Strategy (to achieve the purpose):

The approach is to focus on three strategic action areas: enhancing the role of education (e.g. stronger links between STEM educators, learners, scientists and technologists); the public engaging with science (e.g. encouraging high-quality science); and the science sector engaging with the public (e.g. ensuring scientists know how to make research accessible). International Student Wellbeing Strategy

Purpose:
'International students feel welcome, safe and well, enjoy a high quality education and are valued for their contribution to New Zealand.' (p. 4)

Strategy (to achieve the purpose):

The approach is to support international students by increasing their safety and wellbeing both culturally and economically, ensuring they can access high-quality education, and ensuring they are valued for their contribution to New Zealand. Specific examples include ensuring students have access to safe and reliable transport and access to information about social, cultural and religious services. (p. 7)

Learning Support Action Plan

Purpose:
'[A]n inclusive education system where every child feels a sense of belonging, is present, makes progress, where their wellbeing is safeguarded and promoted, where learning is a lifelong journey, and where children and young people with learning support needs get the right support at the right time.' (p. 4)

Strategy (to achieve the purpose):

- The approach is to target specialist learners' educational needs through six priority areas:
1. Introducing Learning Support Coordinators in schools and kura
 2. Screening to enable teachers and other educators to identify and respond to children's learning support needs earlier
 3. Strengthening early intervention
 4. Providing additional, more flexible supports for neurodiverse children and young people
 5. Increasing access to supports for gifted children and young people
 6. Improving education for children and young people at risk of disengaging from education. (p. 6)

Ka Hikitia - Ka Hāpaitia – The Māori Education Strategy

Purpose:

‘Māori are enjoying and achieving education success as Māori, as they develop the skills to participate in te ao Māori, Aotearoa and the wider world.’ (p. 5)

Strategy (to achieve the purpose):

The approach is to provide an organising framework to prioritise cross-agency actions focused on achieving educational success for Māori over the long term. This approach is guided by five principles, for example, ensuring Māori learners and their whānau have a strong sense of belonging across the education system and giving practical effect to Te Tiriti o Waitangi in the education system. Statement of National Education and Learning Priorities

Purpose:
‘[H]elping children and young people to attain their educational potential; preparing young people for participation in civic and community life and for work, and promoting resilience, determination, confidence, creative and critical thinking, good social skills and the ability to form good relationships; [and appreciate] ... Te Tiriti o Waitangi.’ (p. 1)

Strategy (to achieve the purpose):

The approach focuses on seven priority areas: ensure places of learning are safe and inclusive; have high aspirations for every learner and support these aspirations; reduce barriers to education for all; ensure all learners have a strong foundation in literacy, language and numeracy; incorporate tikanga Māori and te reo Māori; strengthen staff teaching and leadership capabilities to support diverse students; and collaborate with partners to support learners on their journey from education to work. Te Aorerekura – The Enduring Spirit of Affection: The national strategy to eliminate family violence and sexual violence

Purpose:

'[S]et out a framework to eliminate family violence and sexual violence, to drive government action in a unified way and harness public support and community action. It will also increase political and public sector accountability by setting out what the government is committing to do and how it will measure and report on progress.' (p. 6)

Strategy (to achieve the purpose):

The approach is to implement several actions that fall under six 'shifts':

1. Towards strength-based wellbeing.
2. Towards mobilising communities.
3. Towards skilled, culturally competent and sustainable workforces.
4. Towards investment in primary prevention.
5. Towards safe, accessible and integrated responses.
6. Towards increased capacity for healing. (p. 7)

Literacy & Communication and Maths Strategy

Purpose:

'[G]uide action to shape the early learning and schooling system to deliver equity and excellence in literacy & communication and maths teaching and learning. Learners being more successful in these foundational skills, and enjoying their learning more, will also help children and young people stay engaged in education.' (p. 5)

Strategy (to achieve the purpose):

The approach is to focus on five interdependent focus areas:

- Clear expectations for teaching and learning
- Capability supports along the career pathway to develop effective kaiako and teachers who can meet the needs of diverse groups of learners
- Educationally powerful connections to support and enhance learning
- A system of learning that responds to the needs of every learner
- System-wide evaluation. (p. 6)

Hei Raukura mō te Mokopuna – A Te Reo Matatini and Pāngarau Strategy

Purpose:

'[P]romote and enhance a mātauranga and kaupapa Māori understanding of te reo matatini and pāngarau across the curriculum. This is expected to result in increased well being, higher educational outcomes and qualifications, and better job opportunities for mokopuna.' (p. 5)

Strategy (to achieve the purpose):

The approach is to achieve a set of goals, including:

- Reclaiming the meaning of te reo matatini to reflect its original intent and clarify its contribution to Te Tamaiti Hei Raukura
- Emphasising the importance of te reo matatini for meeting iwi aspirations for language revitalisation and regeneration
- Imagining the 'wāhanga ako of Te Marautanga o Aotearoa as tīrewa ako in Te Tīrewa Marautanga from understandings gained from the development of tīrewa ako for reo-ā-waha, pānui, tuhituhi, and pāngarau (kia rangatira te reo).' (p. 7)

International Education Strategy

Purpose:
'[D]elivering good education outcomes for international students, global opportunities for domestic students and our educational institutions, as well as economic, social and cultural benefits for all of New Zealand.' (p. 2)

Strategy (to achieve the purpose):

The approach is to apply two focus areas to three overarching goals. The focus areas are:

- Helping providers of international education to build back onshore offerings
- Building a new international education future.

The overarching goals are:

- Delivering an excellent education and student experience
- Ensuring international education is sustainable and resilient
- Developing global citizens. (pp. 2, 7, 9-10, 13)

India – New Zealand 2025: Investing in the Relationship

Purpose:

'Building a more enduring strategic relationship between India and New Zealand.'
(inside cover)

Strategy (to achieve the purpose):

The approach is structured around six goals: building a relationship based on mutual trust that advances our shared interests; improving New Zealanders' capability for engaging with India; growing goods and services trade for shared prosperity; ensuring New Zealand's value proposition is known and understood; stronger and broader sporting and cultural connections between New Zealand and India; and shared approaches bilaterally and in international fora. Human Rights Strategic Action Plan for International Development Cooperation

Purpose:
 '[A]dvancing the realisation of human rights, prioritising people and groups at risk of being left behind.' (p. 1)

Strategy (to achieve the purpose):

- The approach has four strategic focus areas:
- Capacity and capability: duty bearers are supported to improve human rights monitoring and implementation
 - People and groups: rights holders are empowered through inclusive development
 - Communities in crises: this human rights based approach is integrated in crises responses
 - Quality delivery: human rights are mainstreamed throughout policy and programming. (p. 2)

International Climate Finance Strategy – Tuia te Waka a Kiwa

Purpose:
 '[Provide] a high-level, flexible framework to inform our climate finance investments for the 2022-2025 commitment period and beyond ... It also seeks to provide a common understanding of Aotearoa New Zealand's climate finance preferences to support discussions with a wide range of partners.' (p. 12)

Strategy (to achieve the purpose):

- The approach is to focus on four goals:
- Accelerated climate change mitigation
 - Enhanced resilience and adaptation to the impacts of climate change
 - Improved institutional capability and evidence-based decision making
 - Leveraged investment to achieve greater climate impact. (pp. 18-19)

Palliative Care Strategy

The New Zealand Palliative Care Strategy

Purpose:

‘All people who are dying and their family/whānau who could benefit from palliative care have timely access to quality palliative care services that are culturally appropriate and are provided in a co-ordinated way.’ (p. vii)

Strategy (to achieve the purpose):

The approach is to create an integrated, cooperative framework with DHBs that ensures a palliative care culture. Actions are organised under nine strategies and include: implementing hospital palliative care teams; developing the palliative care workforce and training requirements; and implementing the Paediatric Review recommendations. Cancer Control Strategy

The
New Zealand
Cancer Control
Strategy

Purpose:
‘The overall purposes of the strategy are to: reduce the incidence and impact of cancer [and] reduce inequalities with respect to cancer.’ (p. 19)

Strategy (to achieve the purpose):

The approach includes 25 objectives to support six goals, along with broad areas for action to achieve the objectives. Examples of objectives include reducing the number of people who develop cancers due to tobacco use and second-hand smoke, and reducing the number of people developing cancers related to physical inactivity and obesity. Medicines New Zealand

Medicines
New Zealand

Contributing to good health outcomes
for all New Zealanders

Purpose:

‘New Zealanders will have a medicines system that: delivers quality medicines that are safe and effective; provides access to the medicines they need; [and] ensures that medicines are used effectively.’ (p. 7)

Strategy (to achieve the purpose):

The approach is to provide an overarching framework for agencies and stakeholders, in order to inform decision-making and ensure a cohesive and responsive medicines system is put in place. Ways to do this include making funding decisions more transparent and consulting with stakeholders to ensure current and future needs are met. (p. 10)

Ambulance Service Strategy

Purpose:
'[E]nsure that the ambulance sector has clearly defined roles in the emergency and health sectors ... deliver[s] a long-term plan for meeting community emergency health needs [and] integrate[s] ambulance services within the wider health sector.' (p. 2)

Strategy (to achieve the purpose):

The approach focuses on 10 initiatives that promote leadership, cohesion and consistency between emergency ambulance providers, with greater national consistency in training, clinical guidelines and oversight, and levels of practice. The department will also work more closely with key organisations, such as ACC, MOH and DHBs, to integrate ambulance services within the wider health sector. (pp. 4-14)

National Plan for Child Cancer Services in New Zealand

Purpose:

'[A]chieve national agreement on the service delivery model [including] equitable access ... certainty for parents, families and whānau ... clarity for District Health Boards (DHBs) ... [and] sustainable child cancer services.' (p. 1)

Strategy (to achieve the purpose):

The approach is a two-centre model for the provision of specialist paediatric oncology care, with shared care arrangements with other DHBs. The two specialist centres are to be Starship Children's Hospital at Auckland DHB and Christchurch Hospital at Canterbury DHB. Actions include: reviewing current supportive care available and pricing for paediatric oncology; revising the Paediatric Oncology Service Specification; formalising shared care agreements; and establishing a national clinical network for child cancer services in New Zealand. Implementing Medicines New Zealand

Purpose:

'Implementing Medicines New Zealand (the Plan) is about the changes required to deliver on Medicines New Zealand (2007) (the Strategy) ... We want New Zealanders, regardless of their ability to pay, to have access to safe, high-quality, effective medicines, and we want those medicines to be used in the best possible way.' (pp. iii, 1)

Strategy (to achieve the purpose):

The approach is to focus on advancing seven impact areas. Impact areas include enabling shared care through an integrated health care team; optimal use of antimicrobials; and competent and responsive prescribers. The aim is to implement a range of actions but be open to continuously changing priorities and actions as new ideas emerge. (pp. 2–11)

Cancer Health Information Strategy

Purpose:
 '[T]o deliver comprehensive, accessible and accurate information to support the delivery of quality care across the cancer patient pathway' and to 'align with the National Health IT Plan [see GDS19-14] and enable the New Zealand Cancer Plan 2015-2018 [see GDS19-18].' (pp. 1, 6)

Strategy (to achieve the purpose):

The approach is to focus on four interventions: to establish a national framework for managing cancer data; to standardise, digitise and make accessible cancer data at point of care; to aggregate relevant patient and cancer service data into cancer information; and to analyse, produce and communicate cancer intelligence to stakeholders. Living Well with Diabetes

Living Well with Diabetes
A plan for people at high risk of or living with diabetes
2015–2020

Purpose:
‘All New Zealanders with diabetes, or at high risk of developing type 2 diabetes, are living well and have access to high-quality, people-centred health services.’ (p. 6)

Strategy (to achieve the purpose):

The approach is to focus on reducing the personal burden of disease for people with diabetes; providing consistent and equitable services for all New Zealanders; and reducing the cost of diabetes on the public health system, and the broader societal impact in the longer term. (p. 7)

Disability Strategy 2016–2026

Purpose:
‘New Zealand is a non-disabling society – a place where disabled people have an equal opportunity to achieve their goals and aspirations, and all of New Zealand works together to make this happen.’ (p. 6)

Strategy (to achieve the purpose):

The approach is structured around eight desired outcomes, summarised as: education; employment and economic security; health and well-being; rights protection and justice; accessibility; attitudes; choice and control; and leadership.

Each outcome has two parts: a vision of the future which sets the aspiration, and how this future will be attained. (pp. 22–39, 46–47)

Healthy Ageing Strategy

Healthy Ageing Strategy

Purpose:
‘Older people live well, age well and have a respectful end of life in age-friendly communities.’ (p. ii)

Strategy (to achieve the purpose):

The approach focuses on five outcome areas: healthy ageing; acute and restorative care; living well with long-term conditions; support for people with high and complex needs; and respectful end of life. The strategy also includes an action plan listing specific actions for each outcome area and the lead entity and key partners tasked with implementing each action. (pp. 17, 48–67)

Influenza Pandemic Plan: A framework for action

Purpose:
‘To minimise deaths, serious illness and serious disruption to communities and the economy arising from an influenza pandemic.’ (p. 1)

Strategy (to achieve the purpose):

The approach is to provide a six-phase model of actions: plan for it (planning and preparedness), keep it out (border management), stamp it out (cluster control), manage it (pandemic management), manage it post-peak and recover from it (recovery). (p. 9)

Whāia Te Ao Mārama 2018 to 2022 – The Māori Disability Action Plan

Purpose:

'[T]āngata whaikaha pursue a good life with support ... Whāia Te Ao Mārama is aligned with the vision and principles of enabling good lives and transforming the disability support system, which offer disabled people greater choice and control over the supports they receive, so that they can plan for the lives they want.' (p. 1)

Strategy (to achieve the purpose):

The approach is to work with tāngata whaikaha (Māori with disabilities) to achieve six goals. These are that by 2022, tāngata whaikaha will:

- Participate in the development of health and disability services
- Have control over their disability support
- Participate in te ao Māori
- Participate in their community
- Receive disability support services that are responsive to te ao Māori
- Have informed and responsive communities. (p. 8)

Every Life Matters – He Tapu te Oranga o ia Tangata – Suicide Prevention Strategy

Purpose:
 'Reduced suicide rate ... Wellbeing for all.' (p. 2)

Strategy (to achieve the purpose):

Building a strong system for suicide prevention includes focusing on four areas: strengthening national leadership; using evidence and collective knowledge to make a difference; developing the suicide prevention workforce to have capacity and capability to respond; and evaluating and monitoring Every Life Matters. Key to supporting wellbeing is working to increase protective factors and reduce risk factors across the suicide prevention continuum, including promotion, prevention, intervention and postvention. Planned Care Strategic Approach

Purpose:
'New Zealanders experience timely, appropriate access to quality Planned Care which achieves equitable health outcomes ... Planned Care encompasses medical and surgical activity traditionally known as Elective or Arranged services that are delivered by hospitals.' (pp. 6-7)

Strategy (to achieve the purpose):

The approach focuses on five strategic priorities to set a new direction for planned care services: understanding planned care needs; balancing national consistency and local needs; simplifying pathways for service users; optimising sector capability and capacity; and ensuring systems are fit for the future. COVID-19 Health and Disability System Response Plan

Purpose:

'Success under this strategy means that COVID-19 is eliminated in New Zealand or reduced to a small number of cases, the large majority of which are "imported" and linked to international travel.' (p. 2)

Strategy (to achieve the purpose):

The approach is to focus on eight priority populations (including Māori, Pacific peoples, older people, people with long-term conditions, people with disabilities, people with mental health conditions, people living in residential facilities and refugees and migrant community members) and eight planning areas (workforce, public health, hospitals, care in the community, laboratories, infection prevention and control, health and disability supply chain, and support for priority population) in accordance with the Government's COVID-19 elimination strategy. Ola Manuia – Pacific Health and Wellbeing Action Plan

Purpose:

'Pacific people lead independent and resilient lives ... live longer in good health ... [and] have equitable health outcomes.' (p. 17)

Strategy (to achieve the purpose):

The approach is three-fold: to strengthen health knowledge and skills of Pacific people to support informed choices about their health and wellbeing; to change the health and disability system to deliver more responsive, more accessible and high-quality services for Pacific families; and to strengthen actions to create environments that improve health equity for Pacific families. Te Aorerekura – The Enduring Spirit of Affection: The national strategy to eliminate family violence and sexual violence

Purpose:

'[S]et out a framework to eliminate family violence and sexual violence, to drive government action in a unified way and harness public support and community action. It will also increase political and public sector accountability by setting out what the government is committing to do and how it will measure and report on progress.' (p. 6)

Strategy (to achieve the purpose):

The approach is to implement several actions that fall under six 'shifts':

1. Towards strength-based wellbeing.
2. Towards mobilising communities.
3. Towards skilled, culturally competent and sustainable workforces.
4. Towards investment in primary prevention.
5. Towards safe, accessible and integrated responses.
6. Towards increased capacity for healing. (p. 7)

Strategic Framework for Managing COVID-19

Purpose:

'[P]rotect the health and wellbeing of individuals and communities through a proportionate and equitable response to managing COVID-19 in Aotearoa New Zealand, while building resilience for future pandemics and other infectious diseases.' (p. 11)

Strategy (to achieve the purpose):

The approach is to develop a toolkit of measures to manage COVID-19, organised into the categories below:

- Community public health measures
- Border measures (air and maritime)
- Support for individuals and communities
- System enablers.

These tools are then weighed up against a number of factors to determine which should be utilised and when. (pp. 15–20)

He Whare Āhuru He Oranga Tāngata – The Māori Housing Strategy

Purpose:

'[S]upport a future where Māori are not disproportionately represented as social housing tenants, where Māori ... are able to exercise freedom of choice in terms of who their landlord might be, and ... have the opportunity to own their own homes, or to be working towards home ownership.' (p. 5)

Strategy (to achieve the purpose):

The approach is to focus on six goals: ensuring the most vulnerable Māori have secure tenure, and access to safe, quality housing with integrated support; improving the quality of housing for Māori communities; supporting Māori and their whānau to transition to preferred housing choices; increasing the amount of social housing provided by Māori organisations; increasing housing on Māori-owned land; and increasing large-scale housing developments involving Māori organisations. Public Housing Plan 2021-2024

Purpose:
 '[T]o increase the number of newly built public houses and progressively decrease leases over time.' (p. 1)

Strategy (to achieve the purpose):

The approach is to identify areas where population growth has exceeded new housing development, leading to rising rents and housing shortfalls. Focus area factors include: the sharp rise in housing costs; reliance on motels for emergency housing; overcrowding; population increases that have outpaced construction; infrastructure not able to support development; and housing deprivation. (p. 5)

Te Tauākī Kaupapa Here a te Kāwanatanga mō te Whakawhanake Whare, Tāone anō hoki – Government Policy Statement on Housing and Urban Development

Purpose:

'[A] multi-decade system strategy for housing and urban development. It will inform, influence and align activity across the system to respond to the challenges we face ... Everyone in Aotearoa New Zealand lives in a home, and within a community that meets their needs and aspirations.' (pp. 5, 6)

Strategy (to achieve the purpose):

The approach is to focus on six areas: ensure more affordable homes are built; ensure houses meet needs; ensure people can live in stable, affordable homes; support whānau to have safe, healthy affordable homes with secure tenure; re-establish housing's primary role as a home rather than a financial asset; and plan and invest in our places. Te Aorerekura – The Enduring Spirit of Affection: The national strategy to eliminate family violence and sexual violence

Purpose:

'[S]et out a framework to eliminate family violence and sexual violence, to drive government action in a unified way and harness public support and community action. It will also increase political and public sector accountability by setting out what the government is committing to do and how it will measure and report on progress.' (p. 6)

Strategy (to achieve the purpose):

The approach is to implement several actions that fall under six 'shifts':

1. Towards strength-based wellbeing.
2. Towards mobilising communities.
3. Towards skilled, culturally competent and sustainable workforces.
4. Towards investment in primary prevention.
5. Towards safe, accessible and integrated responses.

Te Puni Kōkiri

Maihi Karauna – The Crown’s Strategy for Māori Language Revitalisation

Purpose:
‘[T]he revitalisation of te reo Māori ... By 2040, 85 per cent of New Zealanders (or more) will value te reo Māori as a key element of national identity ... one million New Zealanders (or more) will have the ability and confidence to talk about at least basic things in te reo Māori ... 150,000 Māori aged 15 and over will use te reo Māori as much as English.’ (pp. 7, 11-14)

Strategy (to achieve the purpose):

The approach is for government, in partnership with Māori, to advance the revitalisation of te reo Māori by increasing its value and demand; improving learning capabilities; and providing opportunities to engage in its use in conjunction with the Maihi Māori strategy. This includes preparing a full cross-government implementation plan by September 2019 and reviewing the strategy before it expires in 2023. (pp. 21–37)

Disability Strategy 2016–2026

Purpose:

‘New Zealand is a non-disabling society – a place where disabled people have an equal opportunity to achieve their goals and aspirations, and all of New Zealand works together to make this happen.’ (p. 6)

Strategy (to achieve the purpose):

The approach is structured around eight desired outcomes, summarised as: education; employment and economic security; health and well-being; rights protection and justice; accessibility; attitudes; choice and control; and leadership.

Each outcome has two parts: a vision of the future which sets the aspiration, and how this future will be attained. (pp. 22–39, 46–47)

New Zealand Sign Language Strategy

Purpose:
 '[T]o enable Deaf and other NZSL users to learn and use NZSL naturally within a community of users, contributing significantly to its survival, sustainability and vitality.' (p. 5)

Strategy (to achieve the purpose):

The approach is to focus on five internationally recognised language planning priorities: acquisition (the learning of a language by children and adults); use/access (the ability to use a language in any or all domains of society, including within whānau); attitude (the beliefs and opinions of language users and others towards that language); documentation (the systematic recording of language use for research and reference); and status (how a language is regarded by its users and others). (pp. 10-16)

Te Pae Tata Māori Strategy and Action Plan

Purpose:
‘To embed a Māori world view into our organisation that will honour our commitment as a Te Tiriti o Waitangi partner and prioritise the needs of whānau.’ (p. 7)

Strategy (to achieve the purpose):

The approach is to focus on three key shifts:

- Mana manaaki: a positive experience every time – earning the respect and trust of Māori
- Kotahitanga: partnering for greater impact – forming genuine partnerships with Māori
- Kia takatū tātou: supporting long-term social and economic development – supporting Māori aspirations. (p. 11)

Family Violence Funding Approach

Purpose:

'[A] future where providers are sustainably funded and services are whānau-centred, outcomes-focused and integrated.'
(p. 4)

Strategy (to achieve the purpose):

The approach is to focus on four priorities: having a whānau-centred approach to service delivery; setting sights on long-term recovery; giving communities universal support, how and when they need it; and giving regions more support. (pp. 15–18)

Pacific Prosperity: Our People, Our Solutions, Our Future

Purpose:

‘To rejuvenate the Ministry’s delivery and engagement of services for Pacific peoples, families and communities, so they are safe, thrive and flourish in Aotearoa.’ (p. 13)

Strategy (to achieve the purpose):

The approach is to focus on three communities: Pacific peoples and families; staff and people who are providing services on behalf of the Ministry; and communities. Examples of actions include improving access to healthy and sustainable housing; improving current information capture, reporting and sharing processes; and better articulating the meaning of a ‘Pacific provider service’. Better Later Life – He Oranga Kaumātua

Purpose:
‘New Zealand embraces the opportunities that an ageing population and longevity brings.’ (p. 2 of Better Later Life – He Oranga Kaumātua 2019 to 2034 – Super Seniors)

Strategy (to achieve the purpose):

The approach is to focus on five key areas, and within each area, a set of goals and actions. The areas are: achieving financial security and economic participation; promoting healthy ageing and improving access to services; creating diverse housing choices and options; enhancing opportunities for participation and social connection; and making environments accessible. E Tū Whānau Mahere Rautaki: Framework for Change

Purpose:
‘Whānau are self-managing and resilient ... connected and feel like they belong ... have positive relationships in Te Ao Māori ... feel safe in their homes and communities ... are living healthy lifestyles ... are strengthened and participating in society [and] ... have increased economic independence and rangatiratanga.’ (p. 11)

Strategy (to achieve the purpose):

The approach focuses on four priority areas:

- Hapori development: Supporting whānau, hapū, iwi and communities to build capacity and capability to lead and sustain community level change
- Whānau strength: Supporting wellbeing and relationships within whānau
- Tāne ora/Wāhine ora: Opportunities for healing, connection to culture and community
- Rangatahi development: Enabling youth engagement, education, leadership.

The approach is underpinned by Kaupapa Māori. (pp. 4-5)

Pathways for Change

Purpose:

'Pacific families and communities are safe, resilient and enjoy wellbeing.' (p. 9)

Strategy (to achieve the purpose):

The approach is two-fold. The first goal is mobilising Pacific communities, encouraging community leaders to speak out and take action against violence affecting Pacific peoples. The second goal is capability development to strengthen capacity to design, lead and deliver solutions for Pacific peoples. (pp. 28–29)

Elder Abuse in Aotearoa

Purpose:
'[A]n Aotearoa where older people are supported to live abuse free and the prevalence of elder abuse and neglect is reduced. We also want all people who need and want help with elder abuse to be able to access support.' (p. 10)

Strategy (to achieve the purpose):

The approach is for the strategy to be implemented in three phases, focusing first on stabilising, then strengthening, and finally growing the response services to deliver on long-term and sustainable solutions to reduce the occurrence of elder abuse. (p. 13)

Working Matters: An Action Plan to ensure disabled people and people with health conditions have an equal opportunity to access employment

Purpose:

'[T]o help ensure disabled people and people with health conditions have an equal opportunity to access good work.' (p. 14)

Strategy (to achieve the purpose):

The approach is to focus on three objectives (supply, match and demand) and to implement a range of specific actions. Areas of action identified are: education and training, apprenticeships and internships, referral pathways, employment services, partnerships with employers, information, workplace health and safety, state sector exemplars and future of work. (p. 14)

Te Aorerekura – The Enduring Spirit of Affection: The national strategy to eliminate family violence and sexual violence

Purpose:

'[S]et out a framework to eliminate family violence and sexual violence, to drive government action in a unified way and harness public support and community action. It will also increase political and public sector accountability by setting out what the government is committing to do and how it will measure and report on progress.' (p. 6)

Strategy (to achieve the purpose):

The approach is to implement several actions that fall under six 'shifts':

1. Towards strength-based wellbeing.
2. Towards mobilising communities.
3. Towards skilled, culturally competent and sustainable workforces.
4. Towards investment in primary prevention.
5. Towards safe, accessible and integrated responses.
6. Towards increased capacity for healing. (p. 7)

Financial Capability

Purpose:
‘Financial capability services need to be:
 • accessible for all
 • sustainably funded
 • delivered in the right way at the right time.’
 (p. 4)

Strategy (to achieve the purpose):

The approach is to identify ‘three strategic priorities that inform our desired future state:

- Client and whānau-centred services
- Support systems and frameworks
- Cross-sector relationships.’

Three phases have been developed to implement the future state:

- Shape – preparing for change
- Stretch – building relationships, capability, and a sustainable delivery model
- Strive – a cohesive community working together for clients. (pp. 16, 20–21)

International Air Transport Policy

Purpose:

‘[P]rovide New Zealand-based and foreign airlines with opportunities to provide their customers with better access to global supply chains and New Zealand’s key passenger and goods markets ... in order to help grow the economy and deliver greater prosperity, security and opportunities for all New Zealanders.’ (p. 8)

Strategy (to achieve the purpose):

The approach is to ‘pursue a policy of putting in place reciprocal open skies arrangements except where it is not in the best interests of the country as a whole.

‘Where the other party will not agree to open skies agreements, ... seek to put in place the most open package that is in New Zealand’s overall best interests ...’

‘[C]onsider extra-bilateral approvals pending the putting into place of new or expanded arrangements’. (p. 15)

Taking Flight: An Aviation System for the Automated Age [Drone Integration Paper]

Purpose:

‘Our vision is to enable a thriving, innovative and safe drone sector.’ (p. 1)

Strategy (to achieve the purpose):

The approach is to focus on four building blocks to achieve safe drone integration: regulation; funding and investment; infrastructure and technology (such as transponders, ground stations, transport connections and drone ports); and research and development. Each building block is to have proposed actions and timeframes. (pp. 10–11)

Hei Arataki – Ministry of Transport Māori Strategy

Purpose:
‘A transport system that enables Māori to flourish.’
(p. 1)

Strategy (to achieve the purpose):

The approach focuses on three goals: strengthening the cultural capabilities of staff so they can better engage with Māori partners; forming long-lasting partnerships; and embedding tikanga Māori into policy design and advice to deliver outcomes for Māori. (p. 1)

Road to Zero – New Zealand’s Road Safety Strategy

Purpose:

‘[N]o one is killed or seriously injured in road crashes. It is based on Vision Zero – a global movement that has seen significant decreases in road trauma in Sweden, New York and parts of Australia.’ (p. 20)

Strategy (to achieve the purpose):

The approach is to aim for a 40% reduction in deaths and serious injuries by 2030. The target will be achieved by focusing on five key areas: infrastructure improvements and speed management; vehicle safety; work-related road safety; road user choices; and system management. This strategy will be supported by a series of action plans over the next 10 years. (p. 7)

Transport Evidence Base Strategy

Purpose:

‘Ensure the transport sector has the right data, information, research and evaluation to deliver an evidence-based transport system that improves wellbeing and liveability.’ (p. 9)

Strategy (to achieve the purpose):

The approach is to integrate previous strategies and focus on five enablers: improving access; improving governance; investing in the right activities; facilitating collaboration; and developing capacity and capability. The intention is to apply all five enablers across the domain plan, the research strategy and the evaluation strategy. Both the domain plan and the research strategy have been incorporated into this strategy (they were separate strategies that have since been archived). (pp. 4, 24, 28, 33)

Government Policy Statement on Land Transport 2021/22–2030/31

Purpose:

'A transport system that improves wellbeing and liveability.' (p. 5)

Strategy (to achieve the purpose):

The approach is to focus on four strategic priorities:

- Safety: developing a transport system where no-one is killed or seriously injured
- Better travel options: so people can access social and economic opportunities
- Improving freight connections: for economic development
- Climate change: developing a low carbon transport system that supports emissions reductions, while improving safety and inclusive access. (p. 6)

Maritime Security Strategy

Purpose:
‘A maritime security sector that secures New Zealand’s significant maritime economic, cultural and environmental interests, and is better able to deter adversaries, reduce harm to New Zealand communities and exert effective Kaitiakitanga (guardianship) of the sea.’
 (p. 5)

Strategy (to achieve the purpose):

The approach is based on four mutually reinforcing and overlapping pillars: understanding the maritime domain; engaging with partners; preventing threats; and responding with the right mix of interventions. Together they guide how the sector and maritime security will prioritise operational activity and direct investment. They have also developed three core implementation priorities: enabling the comprehensive multi-agency approach; establishing sector planning and assessment expectations; and allocating resources to support the strategy’s investment priorities. Charging Our Future: National electric vehicle charging strategy

Purpose:
'Aotearoa New Zealand's EV charging infrastructure supports an equitable transition to a low-emissions transport system in which accessible, affordable, secure, and reliable charging infrastructure is available to everyone who needs it.' (p. 2)

Strategy (to achieve the purpose):

The approach is to focus on five long-term outcomes:

1. Integrating EV charging infrastructure, ensuring the system is affordable, reliable, secure and safe
2. Making EV charging infrastructure accessible, affordable, secure, and reliable for EV users from diverse backgrounds
3. Developing integrated and streamlined cross-sectoral planning and standards to underpin New Zealand's EV charging system
4. Ensuring the EV charging market functions effectively, can adapt and evolve over time, and is attractive to users, operators and investors
5. Contributing to the transition to, and use of, low-emissions transport modes across the wider transport system. (p. 3)

Te Aorerekura – The Enduring Spirit of Affection: The national strategy to eliminate family violence and sexual violence

Purpose:

'[S]et out a framework to eliminate family violence and sexual violence, to drive government action in a unified way and harness public support and community action. It will also increase political and public sector accountability by setting out what the government is committing to do and how it will measure and report on progress.' (p. 6)

Strategy (to achieve the purpose):

The approach is to implement several actions that fall under six 'shifts':

1. Towards strength-based wellbeing.
2. Towards mobilising communities.
3. Towards skilled, culturally competent and sustainable workforces.
4. Towards investment in primary prevention.
5. Towards safe, accessible and integrated responses.
6. Towards increased capacity for healing. (p. 7)

Oranga Tamariki Action Plan

Purpose:
 '[Drive] a shared accountability and monitoring framework across children's agencies to improve the wellbeing of Oranga Tamariki priority populations and prevent the need for them to come into care or be involved with the youth justice system.' (p. 3 of Oranga Tamariki Action Plan)

Strategy (to achieve the purpose):

The approach is to focus on four results: good health, including mental wellbeing; positive housing conditions; access to good education; and support to grow, connect, and be independent.

The first steps to achieving these results are:

- Building an evidence-based picture of need
- Meeting children and young people's needs and building whānau resilience
- Community-led, regionally-enabled, centrally-supported prevention. (p. 1 of Implementing the Oranga Tamariki Action Plan)

The Oranga Tamariki Disability Vision and Strategy

Oranga Tamariki Disability Vision and Strategy
Our vision was developed in partnership with disabled people, their champions, tāngata whaikaha Māori and care experienced tamariki.

How we developed our vision
Oranga Tamariki knows we need to work better with disabled people. To do this we are developing a Disability Vision and Strategy which will help us to use a social and rights-based model of disability grounded in the foundations of Te Tiriti o Waitangi.

We have developed the vision and strategy in two phases. During phase one we spoke to over 250 disabled people, disabled parents, Oranga Tamariki staff, social workers, care experienced young people, caregivers of children, sector kaitiaki, Oranga Tamariki kaitiaki and service providers. After we spoke to everyone we partnered with the Oranga Tamariki Disability Whaikaha Group and other engagement partners and developed a vision, four shifts needed to achieve it and a draft definition of disability.

Have your say into the Oranga Tamariki Disability Strategy
We want to hear from you on how to achieve this vision. Below we have summarised actions already supported under each shift and now we need to hear your ideas, thoughts and feedback on which actions would have the biggest impact:

To take more part in the strategy, a worthwhile ability to someone from the strategy team, or sending a written, audio or video submission, information on the different ways to participate are on our website or you can email: disability@orangitamariki.govt.nz

Our vision
‘The mana of tāngata whaikaha me o ratou toa (disabled people and their champions) is enhanced by meeting their needs, upholding their rights and supporting their hopes and dreams.’

What our vision means
Tāngata whaikaha are experts in their own lives and the best source of their own solutions. Our focus is shifting to how we best support tāngata whaikaha me o ratou toa to achieve their hopes, dreams, goals and aspirations. We will respect and uphold their privacy and aspirations, not look on their behalf, about them, or for them, and meet their needs and rights in a collaborative and user-friendly way.

Our draft definition of disability
Disabled people are people who have long term physical, cognitive, intellectual, neurological, or sensory impairments including neurodiversity conditions, such as Fetal Alcohol Spectrum Disorder (FASD), Autism Spectrum Disorder (ASD) and Attention Deficit Hyperactivity Disorder (ADHD), which in interaction with social barriers, may hinder their full and effective participation in society or an equal basis with others.

Purpose:
‘The mana of tāngata whaikaha me o ratou toa (disabled people and their champions) is enhanced by meeting their needs, upholding their rights and supporting their hopes and dreams.’ (p. 1)

Strategy (to achieve the purpose):

The approach consists of four shifts:

1. How we see disability: taking a whole-of-life approach
2. Systems work for people: tāngata whaikaha me o rātou toa (disabled people and their champions) experience connected, rights based, consistent and transparent children’s and disability systems
3. Disability-confident and -competent workforce: the Oranga Tamariki workforce have the skills and expertise, including cultural competency, to work with tāngata whaikaha me o rātou toa
4. Oranga Tamariki is safe and proactive: tāngata whaikaha me o rātou toa are listened to. (pp. 2-3)

Public Service Commission— Te Kawa Mataaho

Kia Toipoto – Public Service Action Plan

Purpose:
‘Making substantial progress towards closing gender, Māori, Pacific, and ethnic pay gaps ... [a]ccelerating progress for wāhine Māori, Pacific women, and women from ethnic communities ... [and] [c]reating fairer workplaces for all, including disabled people and members of rainbow communities.’ (p. 3)

Strategy (to achieve the purpose):

The approach is to prioritise transparency in agencies; ensure equal pay through monitoring; encourage gender and ethnic representation and leadership in the workplace; support career pathways and equitable progression opportunities; eliminate all forms of bias and discrimination in human resource systems; and allow access to flexible-by-default working without affecting pay or progression. Te Aorerekura – The Enduring Spirit of Affection: The national strategy to eliminate family violence and sexual violence

Purpose:
'[S]et out a framework to eliminate family violence and sexual violence, to drive government action in a unified way and harness public support and community action. It will also increase political and public sector accountability by setting out what the government is committing to do and how it will measure and report on progress.' (p. 6)

Strategy (to achieve the purpose):

The approach is to implement several actions that fall under six 'shifts':

1. Towards strength-based wellbeing.
2. Towards mobilising communities.
3. Towards skilled, culturally competent and sustainable workforces.
4. Towards investment in primary prevention.
5. Towards safe, accessible and integrated responses.
6. Towards increased capacity for healing. (p. 7)

Fourth National Action Plan – Te Tuawhā o ngā Mahere Mahi ā-Motu

Purpose:
 '[Maintain New Zealand's] high transparency, politically-neutral Public Service, and low levels of corruption ... [and support] reforms to increase openness, transparency, democratic participation, and government accountability.' (p. 5)

Strategy (to achieve the purpose):

The approach is to focus on delivering on eight commitments, including:

- Adopting a community engagement tool
- Researching deliberative processes for community engagement
- Establishing an inclusive, multi-channel approach to the delivery of government information and services
- Designing and implementing a National Counter Fraud and Corruption Strategy. (pp. 14–31)

Te Rautaki Ārahi i te Ratonga Tūmatanui o Aotearoa – The Leadership Strategy for New Zealand’s Public Service

Purpose:
 ‘We want to create one Te Pae Turuki Public Service Leaders Group, unified by a common mission and spirit of service, leading together on system priorities and modelling exemplary Public Service leadership.’ (p. 10)

Strategy (to achieve the purpose):

- The approach is to focus on three long-term aims:
- ‘Building the team spirit of Te Pae Turuki PSLG, staying focused on the needs of New Zealanders.
 - Enhancing Te Pae Turuki PSLG capability to keep delivering for New Zealand.
 - Enabling Te Pae Turuki PSLG to respond with agility to changing government and joint priorities.’ (p. 13)

Transforming the New Zealand Census of Population and Dwellings

Purpose:
 '[T]o produce census-type information from administrative sources, rather than by the current census approach, which takes a survey of the whole population.' (p. 39)

Strategy (to achieve the purpose):

The approach is a four-phase approach over time to manage the high level of risk and to ensure continued production of quality population statistics. The strategy includes a proposed transforming census timeline up to the 2020 election; a detailed plan (see Appendix 4); and a promise of a review report in 2025 at the earliest. The short-term focus is on modernising the current census model to create efficiencies and reduce operational costs. (pp. 5–6, 18, 39, 42)

Government Data Strategy and Roadmap

Purpose:
 '[P]rovides a shared direction and plan for Aotearoa New Zealand's government data system.' (p. 6)

Strategy (to achieve the purpose):

The approach is to focus on four areas:

- Data: Providing the right data at the right time
- Capability: Developing capability and skills within government to create, collect, manage, and use data
- Leadership: Ensuring leadership, clear rules, and system settings are in place and are well understood
- Infrastructure: Building the infrastructure that enables effective data management and reuse.

The focus areas are to guide key initiatives over the next three to five years. (pp. 10-11)

Purpose:

'[A]nalyse key trends and their potential long-term fiscal impacts directly alongside a range of policy options available to address them.' (p. 4)

Strategy (to achieve the purpose):

The approach is not to make policy recommendations on the 'optimal' policy option or package of options required to manage New Zealand's fiscal sustainability challenge, but to share this information for consideration and analysis by future governments. (p. 41)

Glossary

Archived GDS

The department responsible for the GDS has advised it is no longer active.

Occasionally, a department retrospectively advises the Institute of a strategy that should have been included in a previous GDS Index, but is no longer active. In this situation, the GDS is included in the current GDS Index as 'active', then moved immediately to 'archived GDSs'. For this reason, it is not scored, and does not appear in the Handbook.

Basic response (climate intelligence scoring)

The GDS contains some discussion on climate change impacts and/or how it hopes to deliver better climate outcomes in terms of mitigation and/or adaptation but does not explain any detail (e.g. the GDS states it plans to do more research but does not explain what, when or how).

Capabilities

Soft skills (including existing relationships and in-house expertise). See also resources.

Climate intelligence

The GDS contains some form of climate intelligence (i.e. a basic or detailed response to climate change impacts)

Criteria (GDS selection)

The criteria developed by the Institute to determine whether a document is a GDS.

Detailed response (climate intelligence scoring)

The GDS contains a detailed discussion of climate change impacts and how it will deliver better climate outcomes in terms of mitigation and adaptation (e.g. the GDS contains several clear and measurable next steps, explaining what, when and/or how).

Element (Transparency Scorecard)

An element is a characteristic that is considered of primary importance in the publication of a GDS. In the GDS Index, six high-level elements make up the Transparency Scorecard.

Explicit mention of a GDS

This is where either (i) the exact title of the GDS is stated, or (ii) the full title is not given or the subtitle is missing, but the supporting information and/or context makes it clear which GDS is being referred to.

Externally facing strategy (GDS selection)

An externally facing strategy considers matters outside of the general operations of the department.

Good strategy

Determining what makes a good strategy is a matter of judgement. One aim of the GDS Index is to invite departments to be more transparent, so that citizens can make their own assessments on the quality of strategy.

Government department

The term 'government department' refers to the list of entities found in Schedule 2, Part 1 of the Public Service Act 2020. The GDS Index reflects the list in the Schedule in terms of the department's name and order.

Since the 2021 GDS Index, three changes have been made. On 1 July 2022, Te Kāhui Whakamana Rua Tekau mā Iwa—Pike River Recovery Agency was disestablished. In 2024, the Ministry of Regulation and the Social Investment Agency were added to Schedule 2 of the Public Service Act 2020. However, as this was after December 2023, the 2023 GDS Index does not include these two new departments.

Government department strategy (GDS)

A 'government department strategy' must:

1. be a publicly available document that is published by a government department
2. be a public-facing document that is written for the public to read
3. be an externally facing document (i.e. it is not written for internal management purposes)
4. be a strategic document that contains long-term thinking (i.e. it sets out the approach (the means) and the purpose (the ends) of the strategy)
5. be a national document (i.e. it excludes local and regional strategies)
6. be a document that looks forward at least two years or more, and
7. not be a corporate document (i.e. not a statement of intent, a four-year plan or an annual report).

Implicit mention of a GDS (Transparency Scorecard)

This is where the GDS is indirectly mentioned in the statement of intent or annual report (i.e. not word for word). The test is if there is some doubt as to whether the strategy is being referred to (e.g. the department's energy strategy).

Internally facing strategy (GDS selection)

A strategy document that focuses solely on the internal management and/or operations of a department (e.g. it focuses on the department's staff diversity and inclusion policies or the sustainability practices related to how the department manages its resources).

Jointly held GDS

A GDS that is owned and managed by two or more departments.

May issue (legislation)

The GDS is a voluntary requirement in legislation. Terms often used are 'may issue', 'may allocate responsibility for', or 'may approve' For example, 'may approve' relates to two fisheries GDSs (GDS12-13 and GDS12-21) whereby the GDS itself says it was developed under the Fisheries Act, but the Fisheries Act says 'May... approve... a fisheries plan', implying that the GDS was developed under the Fisheries Act.

Mention only (climate intelligence scoring)

The GDS mentions climate change and may discuss its impacts, but it does not go into any detail on how it hopes to deliver better climate outcomes in terms of mitigation and adaptation.

Merged (combined)

Where two documents are significantly integrated (e.g. either two strategy documents, or a strategy document and an implementation plan/action plan), they are combined into one PDF and treated as a single GDS.

Narrow scope (scope scoring)

The nature of the subject matter discussed by the GDS relates to a group of individuals or species, or covers a specialised topic (e.g. Hoiho penguin, syphilis).

No mention (climate intelligence scoring)

The GDS does not mention climate change at all.

Points (Transparency Scorecard)

Points are allocated to each sub-element. In the GDS Index there are 21 sub-elements. Seventeen of those are given four points each for a reviewer to score. Two sub-elements (6.2 and 6.3) are allocated six points each. The remaining two (sub-elements 1.3 and 3.3) are allocated eight points each. This additional weighting recognises the importance of these sub-elements. The highest possible total in the GDS Index is 96 points.

Purpose statement (the ends)

An aspirational future-focused statement that explains in a concise, unique, coherent and specific way what the strategy aims to achieve and provides an impetus for action (e.g. the purpose statement sets out what success looks like).

Rank (Transparency Scorecard)

The rank reflects where a specific GDS, department or sector sits when its Transparency Scorecard totals are compared to the average score of all GDSs, the average score of the department by which it is held, or the average score of its sector.

Rejected

A document is rejected when the Institute and the department conclude it does not meet the criteria, in which case it is never added to the GDS Index. In the rare case of a disagreement, the final decision is the Institute's.

Required (legislation)

The GDS is a mandatory requirement in legislation. Terms often used are 'must' or 'shall'.

Resources

Physical hardware (including physical and financial assets). See also capabilities.

Reviewer (Transparency Scorecard)

A person who is employed by the Institute to read and then score each GDS in operation against the Transparency Scorecard.

Score (Transparency Scorecard)

The number of points a GDS has accumulated as a result of the scoring process.

Sector

The groupings of departments based on the summary tables of the Estimates of Appropriations in the Treasury's Budget (in the 2023 GDS Index, it is the 2023 Budget). The introduction to each volume of the Estimates of Appropriations 2024/25 explains how Votes and departments have been grouped into sectors. The 2023 Budget sector groupings are:

- Economic Development and Infrastructure
- Education and Workforce
- External
- Finance and Government Administration
- Health
- Justice
- Māori Affairs
- Natural Resources
- Social Services and Community

Strategic options

The range of options a government department might explore before deciding on the best approach. Exploring a range of strategic options often leads to a new and improved approach.

Strategy map

A visual illustration of the proposed strategy, usually on one page, showing the cause-and-effect relationships between the desired purpose and the choices made on how to achieve the strategy (e.g. types of goals/priorities/themes/actions capabilities/resources).

Strategy statement (the means)

The 'means' to an end. The unique approach a department has chosen to adopt to bring about change. It describes the choices made.

Sub-element (Transparency Scorecard)

In the GDS Index there are 21 sub-elements shared across six elements.

Transparency Scorecard

The lens through which each GDS has been assessed. The Transparency Scorecard is made up of six elements and 21 sub-elements.

Wide scope (scope scoring)

The nature of the subject matter discussed by the GDS relates to a broad range of demographics or species, and/or covers a generalised topic (e.g. seabirds, climate change).

Generally GDSs with a wide scope tend to be more strategic and high-level than narrow scope strategies. For example, a GDS focusing on the wellbeing of all New Zealanders (which would be considered to have a wide scope) may lead to development of a more specific strategy, such as a strategy focusing on the wellbeing of New Zealanders in aged care (which would be considered narrow in scope).
