Danger signals that may lead to unethical policy-making

1. Short-termism (e.g. 3 year elections)
2. Echo chambers (versus broad dialogue)
3. Myths (versus rigorous testing of assumptions)
4. Writing short (versus detailed and considered logic)
5. Designed policy (versus a written methodology and agreed limitations)
6. Policy knots (where the outputs and outcomes are less clear)
7. Self interest or unaligned interests
8. Poor collection and use of data, analysis and distribution
9. Unethical social research
10. Ministers become the sole gate keepers (lobbying)
11. Lack of a review clause (in law and in RMA decisions)

'Never underestimate the capacity of those younger than you to surprise you with their talent. Learn from them, and always revel in the opportunity to combine talents to build a team.'

'See the opportunities in new directions. If you do not change direction, you may end up where you are heading.'
